1/ Almería Congress City

1/ Introduction

The city of Almería, located in the southeastern area of the Iberian Peninsula, has the highest number of daylight hours in Europe, in addition to a mild weather. Its origins date back to ancient times; however, the city was founded by Arabs in 955. With a population of 190,000 inhabitants, it is a calm city, always welcoming and diverse. With more than 24 miles of beach, it offers interesting choices for those seeking sun and beaches and those preferring nature tourism. Parque Natural Cabo de Gata-Níjar, its surroundings and its pristine beaches are a nice example of it. It has a commercial port of importance at national level, also used for passenger transport, as well as an airport with high activity. In 2005, Almería hosted the XV Mediterranean Games, providing the city with a number of sports facilities and equipment. Almería's Feria y Fiestas take place in August, adding touristic value to the city, together with its Semana Santa, increasing its splendor year after year.

The city of Almería is deeply involved to enhance its contribution to congress tourism. In its effort to be the perfect place to host congresses, conferences and exhibitions, Palacio de Congresos Cabo de Gata-Ciudad de Almería is an outstanding reference to assemble this sector's activity in the city. Up-to-date and fully equipped with a wide range of facilities, it has a capacity of five thousand people in its eight thousand square meters.

2/ Almería Convention Bureau

Almería Convention Bureau is a department specialized in promoting and developing this type of tourism in our city, within the framework of Área de Turismo. This Convention Bureau is a member of Spain Convention Bureau (SCB) since 2007, a specialized section of Comisión de Turismo de la FEMP.

Almería has the qualities to become the right choice to hold meetings and conferences, thanks to its exceptional weather, meeting rooms availability and tourist offer, with hospitable and professional manners. It is a city with excellent living standards and a wide range of leisure activities.

The Convention Bureau supports dissemination of events, providing organizers with thorough objective information on facilities and services, tourist offer of the city (including a time schedule of leisure, sports, cultural and festive activities during session days), and guided tours for conference attendees and their partners.

Almería and the cinema

Almería and its province are without doubt of national and international reference for our country filming of movies. Our landscapes, our light, good weather and our monuments make Almería an ideal location for outdoor recording. And although many people believe Tabernas and Cabo de Gata Natural Park, Nijar are the main locations, Almería city has hosted the filming of many scenes of the major productions that have been shot in the province.

Major cinematic productions.

Thus, within the city can be enjoyed locations of big productions. Almería was a magical place in Conan the Barbarian (Alcazaba of Almería), represented Messina in Patton (Parque Nicolas Salmeron, estate of Santa Isabel and the Cathedral), Hatay in Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade (School of Arts of Almería and La Medina) Cairo in Lawrence of Arabia (Parque Nicolas Salmeron) and Tangiers in the wind and the Lion (Parque Nicolas Salmeron and Antiguo Cultural Casino).

Today, Almería has also been filming location of Game of Thrones and Risen, both of which have used the Alcazaba to recreate the universe of George R. R. Martin and Jerusalem death of Jesus Christ.

You can learn more about the film of our capital's film routes and La Casa del Cinema, where the museum tells the story of cinema in the province of Almeria and was home of John Lennon during the filming of How I Won the War.

Cultural tourism

Almeria boasts a millennia-old history, reflected today in a rich cultural heritage. Monuments, churches, and Arab roots intertwine in the city, captivating its visitors. To delve deeper, joining guided tours is highly recommended – and don't forget the museums! The Civil War Shelters or the Heritage Interpretation Center are among the most visited spaces.

9/ Cuisine

The Mediterranean has, as expected, a strong influence on Almería's cuisine. Whether seafood or farm products, it offers a wide range of recipes easily recognizable thanks to their authentic flavor. No matter if you prefer tapas or traditional stews, it is always the right choice. However, you have the chance to give some of Almería's gastronomic routes a try to know its cuisine in depth.

No doubt Almería's gastronomy will win your heart. Enjoy the best of both worlds on the spot: the place where the best farm produce in Europe merges with the homeland of tapas, a duo which means the best quality and the most exquisite flavor. The variety of dishes and ingredients ensures a successful hit, no wonder there are many options from the bars and restaurants in the city to treat yourself. They are spread throughout Almería, just set a date, time and place.

The best way to know our cuisine is tasting it.
