ALMERÍA, A NATURAL FILM SET

The history of Almería is closely linked to cinema, especially since the 1960s. The landscapes and the excellent climate have turned Almería into one of the most demanded 'natural sets' in the film industry. The Alcazaba, the beaches and the unique buildings have been the setting for some classic films that are already part of the great successes.

ALMERÍA AND THE CINEMA

Almería and its province are without a doubt a national and international reference for filmmaking in our country. Our landscapes, our light, good weather and our monuments make Almería an ideal location for outdoor recording. And although many people believe Tabernas and Cabo de Gata Natural Park, Níjar are the main locations, Almería city has hosted the filming of many scenes of the major productions that have been shot in the province.

BIG PRODUCTIONS

Thus, within the city can be enjoyed locations of big productions. Almería was a magical place in Conan the Barbarian (Alcazaba of Almería), represented Messina in Patton (Parque Nicolas Salmeron, estate of Santa Isabel and the Cathedral), Hatay in Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade (School of Arts of Almería and La Medina) Cairo in Lawrence of Arabia (Parque Nicolas Salmeron) and Tangiers in the wind and the Lion (Parque Nicolas Salmeron and Antiguo Cultural Casino).

Today, Almería has also been filming location of Game of Thrones and Risen, both of which have used the Alcazaba to recreate the universe of George R. R. Martin and Jerusalem in the scene of the death of Jesus Christ.

You can learn more about the history of film shoots in the capital through our film routes or by visiting the Casa del Cine, which was once the home of John Lennon during the filming of How I Won the War.

WALK OF FAME

The Walk of Fame is a section of Poeta Villaespesa street, which pays tribute to the actors and leading filmmakers who have worked in the province. Patrick Wayne, Omar Sharif, Ridley Scott, Denis O'Dell, Ángela Molina, Terry Gilliam y Schwarzenegger, are among the names shown in these stars of fame.

FILMING IN ALMERÍA - ALMERÍA FILM OFFICE

The Almería Film Office is an office for the promotion and support of cinema and filmmakers. It operates as a one-stop shop where producers can request information on how to pay fees, apply for permits to start a filming project, find locations in Almería, and even ask for help applying for grants and sponsorship.
